

Created specifically for those with Alzheimer's or other forms of dementia, Autumn House's physical structure and program of care offer a comfortable environment that gives each individual a sense of security and belonging. The open design, including courtyard garden, reduces stress, promotes therapeutic activity and encourages the walking that helps those residents with their need to roam.

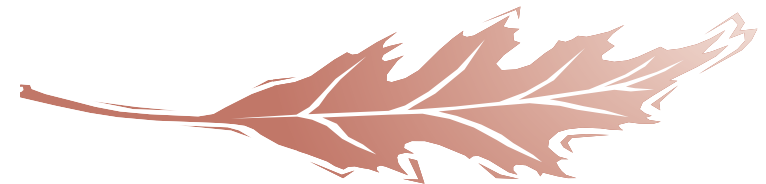

What sets Autumn House apart from other types of assisted living housing is the comprehensive facility design. The Autumn House design won national recognition by the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging. The community comprises four households, each individually staffed and designed to increase comfort, safety and aid in residents orientation. From the layout to color schemes, traffic patterns to living areas, the center offers a positive alternative to other care arrangements!

With a high staff-to-resident ratio of medical professionals, counselors, therapists and caregivers, Autumn House residents will be supervised 24 hours daily by licensed personnel. Autumn House is licensed for 60 residents by the State of Florida as an Assisted Living Facility, and is always open to our family members.

Our community focuses on preserving resident dignity by encouraging supervised participation in daily living activities such as meal preparation, light housekeeping, exercises and recreational activities. Staff members work hard to understand the background, personality and interests of each resident, to help them feel as comfortable as possible in their new home. Sometimes silent companionship, a warm hug, a touch and the ability to listen are more powerful than any spoken word.

At Autumn House, we see ourselves as an extension of your family. This philosophy of care is reflected in every decision made for each resident. Families are the vital link to the resident's past and character and are integrally involved with the program of care at all times. Our support groups offer a forum for staff and family members to discuss concerns and share information.

Autumn House opened its doors in the fall of 1997. If you would like more information please contact Autumn House at 321-242-1006.
